Inspector General's Recommendation, Page 55 (Annex)

Recommended DCI Action: Disapprove

Inspector General's Statement

The Chief, Records Integration Division, in consultation with the CSRC, revoke or modify the authority to destroy the Dennison tickets, and require the retention of the minimum number needed to clear the system when the records are retired. Needed file space in the operating components can be obtained more profitably through an effective records management program.

DD/P Comment

Non-concur: The need to revoke or modify the authority to destroy Dennison tickets will be eliminated to a great extent in December 1959 with the installation of the interim aperture card system

(microfilm). This system will no longer require the use of Dennison tickets for the control of the great majority of future incoming documents.

With reference to the remaining documents which will require control, experience has shown that these are retired in groups so small that it is not practical to complete the processing cycle through the use of the Dennison tickets.
